

I would like to encourage the FCC to allow XM Satellite radio to continue to offer local traffic and weather information. Having this service available on a continuous level prevents one from having to repeatedly dial through local broadcast stations to access this information.